Erannorth Reborn is a rogue-like action RPG with turn-based battles and an overworld map. This map is fairly large, with 5 main countries, a few war zones, and a world map. The title screen and main menu are both hosted by one character named Popin. While Popin is a small and relatively simple character, he's notable for being the only character on this map with a voice, which is what the voice lines are not! He also hosts two party members, which can be named however you like. The nations on this map are: 1. 2. 3. 4. 5. Most, if not all, of the artwork that you will see is custom made, and was created by JJX. All characters and objects in this game are designed by JJX. Quick Battle System: To select a party member, press up on the controller and select the character. If your character is selected, you can move them to their battlefield by pressing square, and select where to go by pressing triangle or A. Your party member also will be ready to use weapons, which you will learn later. If you have two party members selected, they will use their special skills simultaneously, like: A character with two party members can use two different special skills, or two special skills that they have assigned to the second character. They can also transfer between the two characters, and can have a third character, and so on. For each battle, in the list that you have of your characters, you will see the current max HP of your characters, as well as the amount of MP. Each character has a high HP point (HP), and MP. HP and MP is used to recover HP. As your characters gain experience, they will also raise their stats. Each stats has an ability point to distribute, and they can be further raised through leveling up, or by using items. It's up to you to decide what stats you want to raise, but there are plenty of ways to raise them. You can raise stats individually to different stats (usually raising a character's HP), or you can raise stat or stats at the same time. Raising stats will be rewarded with experience, which you will learn how to get later. Each character can equip or carry a certain number of equipments, and each one has a stat tied

- First come - First served! You may select any Fate at the start of each round to play. - Weighted dice - Resolution by Social Role - Reroll by Position - Discarded cards can be put back into the deck to replace one of the same suit. - A double-up on Encounter chains, and a double-up on Rewards. - Each Fate modifies the game in different ways. Once you have selected a Fate you cannot go back. - Each Fate has its own unique rules, which is why most Fates will have different card movement mechanics and abilities. However, the Common cards are the same for all the Fates, and you cannot draw them out of the deck, or make them useless. IMPORTANT: - Each Fate has their own custom network of encounters, so you cannot choose when you encounter any of the encounters. If you would like to play a Fate with any of the Fates, please leave it blank in the Garage. - The game is Campaign game now. It will automatically change to match any of the Fates, but you can return to the General menus to play as you always have. However, please be mindful that all the Fates have different mechanics, so if you have any specific personal preferences, you should go ahead and play as you normally would, rather than expecting the General menu to take into account the nuances of each Fate's mechanics. - In the First Contact encounters, the first trade card drawn will be the original Captain's map, and any quest cards from later encounters will not change the Captain's map. WHAT'S NEW: - Contact Missions have been replaced with First Contact. The Leader's quests are the first quest cards to be drawn, and the Lost items will be the first items to be drawn from the deck. - The Fate cards have been replaced with new First Contact and Lost cards. - The Leader's quests have been replaced with a new Leader's quest card. - Lost items have been replaced with a new Lost item. - New Leader's quest card. - New Item! - New Chain! - New Achievements! - New Leader's Quest and first three Fates added. To access the Wildcards update: - Extract "Wildcards_BonusPack" to your

: "You may be a woman, but don't ever change. The world doesn't need any women who are different, because women don't survive without soft accents and clever conversation."Q: How can I change the color of the div in this code I'd like to change the color of the "toppy" div and leave the "text" div as it is. How can i do it? Thank you so much. I follow the instructions from the previous topics but i can't change the color. I tried to change the class with the content_text_style.css in the media/css/default.css, too.
